Competition Rules and Information

Competition Judging Areas

1. Media Interview – The contestant will participate in a mock media interview. The interviewer will have pre-determined questions to ask each contestant with the option to ask follow-up questions in order to receive additional knowledge or clarify a point. A panel of judges will observe the interaction for: knowledge, articulation, poise and the contestant's ability to “Tell the Beef Production Story” and present beef and farming in a positive light.
2. Consumer Event – A mock consumer event will be set up for the contestants. Each contestant will be provided with a beef sample, beef literature and recipes. Interested “consumers” will approach the table. They will ask pre-determined questions to test the contestant's knowledge, capacity to interact with the public and ability to present beef in a positive light. A panel of judges will observe and score each contestant on their ability to educate the consumers and provide the consumers with the appropriate information to answer their questions. Each contestant will have 5 minutes to interact with the “Consumers” who will ask questions. Contestant are able to ask the consumers questions to engage a deeper dialogue about beef, and are encouraged to do so.
3. Social & Traditional Media Response to Beef Industry Topics – Contestants will be provided with a list of beef industry topics (For example: Beef Nutrition) once their application is submitted. Contestants will pick a topic and write a blog about that subject, including 2-3 pictures. Contestants should also create a sample Facebook post or Tweet about this same subject to be submitted in addition to the blog. Both the blog and the Facebook post or Tweet must be brought to the competition. The judges will score the contestants on their ability to incorporate beef industry information and how relatable that message would be with consumers. Please sight any sources used for facts.
